1 INTRODUCTION

This summary of chapter activities was prepared from reports and other material submitted before and after the chapter representatives' meeting in March. The Branch is grateful for reports from individual museums, which are a good way of keeping the branch informed about work in the regions and of flagging issues that need to be addressed. An edited version of these reports appears in Museum Matters July 2010.

2 FAR NORTH COAST

Far North Coast held its first meeting of the year at Port of Yamba Historical Society. The meeting acknowledge the work of the late Dot Sawatzki, a 2007 Heritage NSW Volunteer Award recipient, who passed away in early January.

Lois Randall from Arts Northern Rivers spoke about the achievements of Regional Museum Development Officer Joan Kelly after three years of working with 21 museums in the region. Joan was instrumental in the development of a strong regional network, a professional development program (13 workshops attended by 253 participants), a regional significance assessment program with related training, development of Rivers, Roads and Rail, a multi site regional curated museum exhibition, recording and editing of 12 local oral histories, now available online, development of strategic plans, stronger partnerships with local government; and raising the profile of the museums in the region.

Joan's recent resignation as a result of funding uncertainties highlights the importance of the Chapter in continuing to provide networking and training opportunities to all the museums. Future priorities, subject to future funding and support, include ongoing professional support for museum committees, ongoing liaison with each local government to ensure that MOUs with councils are negotiated; ongoing development of volunteer recruitment and support programs; audience development strategies; organizing travelling experts to visit museums and assess items in collections where requested. Funding options include working towards professional assistance possibly through MGNSW Museum Advisers Program. Ideally such a program would involve a museums adviser to work with 5 museums in Richmond Valley Council area and a museum adviser to work with 4 museums in the Ballina and Byron Shires. Kyogle Council has recently engaged a consultant to advise on the development of a combined heritage and cultural facility. Should this proceed it is desirable that Kyogle Council engage a museum adviser to work with Kyogle Historical Society to prepare for setting up in the new facility.

Arts Northern Rivers is committed to continuing to work with the volunteer museums, where possible, to assist with; funding applications, supporting professional development, and liaison with local government.

With assistance from Powerhouse Museum's Regional Services, Margaret Juraszek conducted a workshop on paper conservation. The workshop was funded by an MGNSW leg-up grant covering 50% of the travel costs, with the remaining amount provided by the host museum from contributions made those attending the workshop.

The next meeting of the chapter is tentatively scheduled for 3 September, possibly at Alstonville or Evans Head, possibly with a workshop on the Powerhouse Museum's Dress Register. Other reports flesh out the evidence of interesting work being undertaken within individual museums within the chapter.

with funding from the Australian National Maritime Museum. Installed insulation batts in the museum ceiling after received funding through the NSW Government Public Facilities Program. These are helping the museum us to build text files relating to these requests.

3 MID NORTH COAST

The chapter celebrated two years of activity, after being reactivated in 2008, when it held its AGM at Kempsey RSL on 30 March 2010. The following members of the committee were elected or confirmed: Debbie Sommers (President), Terrie Beckhouse (Vice-President), Leonie Laws (Treasurer), Tom Jones and Chris May (Committee). Liz Gillroy continues as chapter Representative and acting secretary. Membership now stands at 17 (14 institutions & 3 individual).

Initial enthusiasm has been overtaken by time constraints and the tyranny of distance. However, the chapter has maintained its momentum by meeting twice over the past year, an Upper Mid-North Coast sub-committee has been formed and there are some interesting plans for the next twelve months.

Achievements for the year include a Caring for Historic Dress workshop by the Powerhouse Museum held at the Port Macquarie Historical Museum in September 2009 and an introduction to social media workshop with Joy Suliman from Thinkspace in March 2010, also at Port Macquarie. Two workshops have been held in 2010: Making Sense of Significance with Kylie Winkworth (on 9 April, funded by an MGNSW VIM Skills Initiative Grant) and Organising Historic Photograph Collections with Geoff Barker from the Powerhouse Museum (30 April, courtesy of Powerhouse Museum Regional Services Program).

The Upper Mid North sub-committee was established in 2009 at the instigation of Terrie Beckhouse (Coffs Harbour Regional Museum) and Richard Holloway (Executive Office and Regional Arts Development Officer). A meeting of the sub-committee on 17 February 2010 at the Coffs Harbour Education Campus attracted representatives from Bellingen Museum, Urunga Museum, Coffs Harbour Regional Museum, Dorrigo Train Museum, and Bowraville Folk Museum. Apologies were received from Frank Partridge Military Museum (Bowraville), Nambucca Headland Museum and Mary Boulton Pioneer Cottage. Minutes were also sent to Glenreagh Museum, Yarrowarra Aboriginal Corporation: Keeping Collection, Redrock Museum.

The sub-committee plans to meet twice a year and attend the full meeting of the Mid North Coast Chapter once a year. Richard Holloway and Terrie Beckhouse have agreed to serve as contact points and organisers. Richard will be following up with other organisations in the north about membership ie Dorrigo Train Museum, Glenreagh, Red Rock, Bellinger Valley Historical Society.

Training and workshop needs and opportunities have been identified as Dress Register training, use of Mosaic software, setting up email groups, disaster preparedness and recovery, the special needs of Aboriginal collections. Grant opportunities were identified as Volunteer Equipment Grants up to $5000, Museums Galleries VIM Grants up to $1500, Arts NSW Communities funding $5000-$300000, Holiday Coast Credit Union grants up to $5000, Community Heritage Grants, and NSW Heritage Office grants.

Summary of current issues: Use of new technologies and software programs like 'mosaic' specific to the Museums Sector; the increased use and access to email; ageing volunteers, attracting new members, attracting young members; inadequate facilities; access and applying for larger scale infrastructure funding; the need for increased support from local government; isolation; access to a variety of resources and particularly cash; access to a variety of professional development and training on an ongoing basis; growth and culling of collections; lack of a specific 'Aboriginal Keeping Place' on the MNC; Maintaining a contacts database.

Reports on each museum provided a good understanding of regional circumstances and issues to be addressed.

- Bowraville Folk Museum. 40th Birthday planned for November. Serves as contact point for researching local family histories. Vandalism has been a recent and ongoing issue. Require access to ongoing professional development and training, particularly in collection management and the use of modern technologies. There is a need for a regional 'hotline' for advice and support. There is a need for data entry of a large and growing collection and back-up procedures to be implemented. Diminishing availability of exhibition space and storage is also an issue.
- Bellingen Historic Museum. Opened in 1983. Currently has 50 members. Has a broad collection and variety of exhibits. Has limited space. Issues: development of infrastructure; ageing membership and the need for ongoing recruitment; lack of youth involvement despite high levels of school visitation.
- Urunga Museum. Under the same incorporated structure as Bellingen Museum. The facility is currently exposed to major flooding and was inundated in March 2009. Has similar issues to Bellingen.
- Dorrigo Train Museum, Has a strong membership although the majority of members live outside the area, particularly in metropolitan areas of NSW and interstate. The Museum's collection includes 66 locomotives, 380 Carriages and a large number of related exhibits. The collection is thought to be the biggest of its type in the Southern Hemisphere. Their main issue has been obtaining a DA approval to open the collection to the public. A 'Conditions of Consent' is estimated to cost conservatively $1.5 million. Approximately $3,500 is generated by the membership every week. Damp and moisture is one of the biggest issues in maintaining the collection. Issues in the past between the Dorrigo Train Museum and the Glenreagh Mountain Railway have been resolved. There have been major issues in gaining state government financial support.
- Coffs Harbour Regional Museum: Was flooded for the second time in ten years last March with water levels rising 22 inches through the Museum. A significant number of exhibits, particularly works on paper, were either damaged or destroyed. The Museum is now a 'collection' stored in two facilities. There are some issues in the use of basic industrial shed and Salvation Army owned storage facility for the ongoing protection of fragile museum/heritage related items. These facilities have issues associated with dust, high humidity and the lack of temperature controls. Recent attempts to combine the role of the Museum and the Bunker Gallery have foundered due to the inherent differences between the display of visual arts material and museum exhibits. At this stage there is no adopted plan for the provision of a new Regional Museum for the Coffs Harbour LGA; Options are currently being explored. A pop-up display in a vacant shop at the Palm's Shopping Centre attracted great exposure and good donation boxes. The museum is still in a storage shed and no immediate plans to re-open.

- Trial Bay Gaol. Has completed a disaster preparedness plan completed and will now embark on a disaster recovery plan. Is compiling a prisoner database. The Gatehouse is being re-painted. Will close temporarily next year for structural restoration to walls.
- Port Macquarie Historical Society & Museum. Celebrated its 50th birthday with a Community Open Day on 10 April. Was successful in winning the $20000 Panthers Community Grant being used to replace museum roof and guttering.
- Frank Partridge VC Military Museum. . A successful year for grants with the NSW Heritage Office Grant of $40 000 for extensions to exhibition space and storage areas. Bill Storer completed a significance assessment with an MG NSW grant

4 NEW ENGLAND NORTH WEST CHAPTER

Many exciting events and activities have taken place in this chapter over the past twelve months.

A seminar was held at the Land of the Beardies Museum and Research Centre, Glen Innes, on 20 August 2009, sponsored by the New England North West Chapter. This was attended by 27 people from historical societies, family history groups and museums at Dorrigo/ Guy Fawkes, Glen Innes, Inverell, Stanthorpe, Tamworth, Tenterfield, and Uralla. The program included Alex Roach (Heritage Pest Management) on the identification and reduction of infestations of the pests, and Wendy Watts (Textile Coordinator, Land of the Beardies Museum & Research Centre) on her internship at the Powerhouse Museum, the Australian Dress Register, and dealing with textile disasters. Kent Mayo (Museum Director Uralla McCrossins Mill) challenged participants to review their thoughts on exhibition design.

A workshop on disaster recovery preparedness workshop was held at New England Regional Art Museum in Armidale on 8 February. About 30 people attended a Disaster Preparedness Workshop at New England Regional Art Museum on 8 February 2010. The workshop was presented by Dr Leigh Summers, Director and Curator of the Coffs Harbour Regional Gallery.

Uralla Historical Society held its AGM on 23 August 2009 at McCrossin's Mill. A record 36 attended, including many new members. Two members attended the Working Spaces3 Conference in Galong. The Thirty Years Anniversary and Official Opening of the New Kitchen was attended by nearly 100 invited guests and members, including Kristina Keneally, Steve Widders, representing the Anaiwan people, Meg Larkin (Chair of Regional Arts NSW), Maisy Stapleton (CEO, Museums & Galleries NSW) and the Hon Richard Torbay (Speaker of the Legislative Assembly and member for Northern Tablelands). Kent Mayo reported that the society had devoted all its resources over the past few years to the construction of the new Function Centre and will now concentrate on upgrading and installing several exhibitions including Trickett's Triumph, Corporal Cecil Stoker, Sunny Jim Mackay, She'll Be Right Mate and Moving Stories in the Chaff Shed. An application for funding through Arts NSW for the upgrade of our website was successful. Kent Mayo won the top award for Individual Excellence in the IMAGinE Awards for his outstanding contribution to McCrossin's Mill over the last thirty years. Robyn Rogers undertook a one-week Powerhouse Museum internship in 2010.

One tragic event in the region was the destruction of records of the Inverell and District Family History. Records dating back to the foundation of the town, documenting the history of the early pioneers in the District, were destroyed in the fire in January 2010. These included more than 1000 books, hundreds of microfilms, microfiche, computers, microfilm readers furniture and 5 filing cabinets. Some files were burnt beyond recognition. Others were almost unscathed except for the acrid smoke smell. Fortunately, all administration records were off site along with some second copies of library books. Since the fire the Group has found new premises and our members are determined to carry on. Many offers of donations of research material and money have been received, keeping spirits up. The Group's website www.inverellfamilyhistory.org.au has a donation registration form to assist donations of material relevant to the Inverell District.

Chapter concerns

- Grants. System of grants provided through the Regional Program to country museums & galleries. It is generally felt that Museums & Galleries Grants under $5,000 are too difficult to access and discriminatory against small and/or volunteer museums & galleries. There is too much paperwork involved and the detail required for these grants, far too pedantic and demanding. Is it felt that it might be appropriate for professional staff and/or larger museums to have to complete this paperwork, but unfair for volunteer organisations, many of whom often do not have the membership or expertise to complete them. Is there a more equitable and fair way of distributing funds to museums and galleries that eliminates this time consuming, frustrating and onerous grant application process?
- Professional advice. Of equal concern to chapter members is the consultancy support available to country museums and galleries. Once again, this support is seen as extremely difficult to access. Country museum members and volunteers indicate that they feel disappointed by what they see as a city centric bias in the museums and galleries sector. Once again, the detail and paperwork required to access consultancy support is onerous and appears designed to deter applications and requests. Museums would like consultancy support to be practical, helpful and responsive. I think it is fair to say that non metropolitan museums and galleries feel poorly served by city-based professionals. City based consultants appear reluctant to spend any time in the country assisting country museums and galleries. Is it time to employ country based Consultants and Professionals who are accessible, responsive and keen to assist country museums and galleries? This would be an effective solution to the problem. It would be more cost effective and satisfy the demand for practical, responsive and more immediate support to country museums and galleries.

Trevor Pascoe was re-elected President. Other office bearers elected were Phil Stevenson (Vice-President), Sue Milne (Secretary), Elizabeth Griffin (Treasurer) and Sam Friend (Chapter Delegate). The excellent turnout of thirty at the meeting was in large measure due to the effort of the chapter executive in travelling in the weeks leading up to the meeting to museums in Mudgee, Rylstone, Kandos, Sofala, Oberon, Rockley, Lithgow, Blayney and Carcoar.
